

The Seychelles Dive Safari

Diving the depths of the world's most ancient islands

Experience an amazing week of diving in the paradise islands of the Seychelles, cruising conveniently from one island to the next aboard a charming century-old schooner, seeking out the archipelago's most prolific underwater sites.

The Seychelles Dive Safari

Dive amidst ancient granite pillars and shoals of tropical fish on a live-aboard trip with our traditional Dutch schooner, the SV Sea Pearl, as she makes her way across a dozen of Seychelles' islands and islets.

This 7-night cruise combines the underwater world of the world's only granitic mid-ocean islands with a PADI dive instructor/master as your guide, together with the rustic charms of a historic early 1900s vessel that doubles as a full-service floating hotel.

An underwater photograph showing a school of fish swimming over a rocky seabed. The fish are of various species, including several large ones with reddish-brown heads and silver bodies, and many smaller ones. The water is clear and blue, and the rocks are dark and textured.

The Diving Experience

What makes this trip different?

Although we do offer diving on all our year-round cruise departures, the Seychelles Dive Safari provides a more concentrated dive experience for those seeking to maximize their time spent underwater, as well as to discover the widest possible variety of different dive sites during a Seychelles holiday. The key factors which make this cruise ideal for divers include:

Best Possible Conditions

We have carefully selected the dates for our diving safaris to coincide with the calmest periods the islands have to offer.

There may be no guarantees with weather, but with these dates falling in between the opposing trade-wind seasons, it's the best bet for flat-calm seas and amazing visibility.

Open-Sea Diving

Another benefit of the dates we've selected: calm conditions allow us to venture to some open-sea dive sites that may not offer good enough shelter for diving at other times of the year.

These sites typically offer some of the most dramatic scenery and marine life to be found on Seychelles' inner-island plateau, including large pelagic.

Companions Welcome

While diving is the primary focus of this cruise, the Seychelles archipelago is as diverse as it is beautiful, allowing us to accommodate non-diving companions with no shortage of activities parallel to the diving excursions. Visits to nature reserves and island sanctuaries, as well as snorkeling and kayaking, are available throughout the cruise, meaning partners unable to dive can enjoy the experience fully, with or without a good book.

The Diving Experience

Diving in Seychelles

The Seychelles inner island archipelago rests on a plateau that broke off from the super-continent Gondwanaland millions of years ago - the remnants of a submerged granite mountain range. This unique geological phenomenon has resulted in stunning flora and fauna both above and beneath the surface.

Most of the dive sites we'll visit feature large granite rock formations that create different passages and caves. These are home to a rich population of tropical fish, large numbers of pelagic species such as sharks, barracudas, jacks and tunas as well as rays and turtles.

Most dives in the inner islands are between the depths of 8-20 meters, although some of the sites on our diving safari tend to be a little deeper.

The best diving periods are the months of March, April & May, as well as October, November & early December. During this time the sea is typically calm, offering visibility of up to 30 meters, while at the same time allowing us to visit open-sea dive sites that may not be accessible in other times of the year.

Water temperatures can reach up to 30 degrees Celsius at its warmest, which is what divers can expect during our safari.

Diving on our vessels

A PADI dive instructor or dive master is based on board at all times. With the assistance of the crew he takes care of all the divers' needs above and below the water.

Safety and emergency equipment is located onboard according to the PADI dive resorts requirements.

Divers will find onboard facilities for storing their equipment, as well as areas for preparing their equipment/cameras and other sensitive gear.

Facilities for rinsing the equipment with fresh water and protecting it from the sun are also available.

Electricity connections (European two-prong, round pin) are available in the salon and in the cabins, allowing for divers to charge cameras and upload photos to their laptops anytime of day while onboard.
